

Accessibility Statement

At Alexander Street our motto is, "Making silent voices heard." This motivates us on many levels—from creating space for marginalized voices within our collections, to unearthing and digitizing rare and inaccessible archival content, to making our content accessible to all. We believe that all students and researchers, regardless of dis/ability, deserve to find and use Alexander Street content with ease, and in doing so empowering their own voices.

Our products' website design complies with the best practices, recommendations, and standards as defined by the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG 2.0) of the World Wide Web Consortium (WC3), Web Accessibility Initiative (WAI), as well as the requirements set by Section 508 of the U.S. Rehabilitation Act.

While not required, our JAWS implementation handles all the features of our platform, enabling sight impaired students clear navigation of our platform and resources. In addition to the searchable, synchronized transcripts that run alongside our videos, at any time more than 90% of our films have on-screen subtitles. We move our videos to the streaming platform very quickly, to give users access as quickly as possible, so any time a video isn't captioned, it's because we're adding the on-screen text as we go.

Accessibility is an ever-changing and vitally important issue, and Alexander Street is committed to being a leader in this space.
